The National Institute of Development Administration reserves the right to select the most qualified candidate(s) for the scholarships. The number of available scholarships varies for each of the Institute's graduate schools. The decisions regarding the scholarships are made by the Selection Committee. The selection criteria and the conditions for scholarship recipients comply with regulations as stipulated by the National Institute of Development Administration. Students who are not awarded scholarships are still eligible for regular admission. The Institute accepts applicants who are undergoing their last semester of a Bachelor's Degree, given that they graduate before the day of the beginning of the semester.

Requirements and Conditions of Scholarship Recipients:

Successful applicants must follow the General Requirements and Conditions for scholarship recipients as specified below:

1. Recipient of Educational promotion scholarship (Academic Excellence Category)

Recipients of scholarship type 1 (Full scholarship) and type 2 (Tuition Waiver) must achieve a GPA of no less than 3.30 in each semester. If in any semester, students achieve a GPA lower than stipulated criterion, they will not be entitled continue to receive such a scholarship.

2. If recipients of scholarship drop or subsequently resign, or they are discharged as they cannot complete the requirement of the degree, they will be promptly deprived of the rights to receive the scholarship. They will therefore have to return to the Institute the full amount of the funds they have already received, except as considered otherwise by the committee.

3. If a recipient of a scholarship resigns, or are discharged as they cannot complete the requirement(s) of the degree, or if they request for cancellation of their scholarship, they will have to return to the Institute the full amount of the funds they have already received, except as considered otherwise by the committee.

4. In cases a recipient of a scholarship has to enroll in any subject again, they will not receive any exemption from the educational fees of the said subject.

5. In cases where a recipient of a scholarship registers for any course other than the courses specified in the program's study plan, they will be exempted from the registration fee only if they are advised by their advising professor to register for such a subject.

6. Recipients of scholarships must work for the faculty or the Institute no less than six hours per week.

7. Recipients of this scholarship have no right to request any other funds from the Institute, except the funding for thesis writing and publication from the government budget.

8. Conditions for Recipients of Scholarship Type 1 (Full Scholarship)

8.1 Recipients at Master's Degree level must study according to Plan A (doing a thesis).

8.2 Recipients shall be waived from the application fee for the application comprehensive examination for the first-time application only.

8.3 In case that the recipient's study exceeds the period specified by the program, study recipients shall be responsible for paying their status retaining fee.

8.4 Copyright of a thesis shall be jointly held by a student who receives a scholarship and the institute for the period of five years. After the said duration, such thesis copyright shall fall to the student who receives the scholarship. If recipients of scholarships do anything that infringes intellectual property rights or any other legal rights of others, the "recipient of a scholarship" shall be solely responsible for any damages due to such infringement.

8.5 Recipients of scholarships shall be responsible for paying the fee of thesis format checking.

8.6 Master's Degree theses must be published or accepted to be published in a national journal within the TCI database (only the journals in Group 1 and Group 2). This shall exclude conference proceedings.
